Archdiocese of Armagh

Redemptoris Mater Seminary

Redemptoris Mater Seminary is an institution of the Archdiocese of Armagh to form priests for the New Evangelisation who are both diocesan and missionary.

Ordinations

To date, there have been eight priests ordained from this seminary.

God is blessing the work of this seminary, to form priests for the New Evangelisation; priests with a missionary spirit who are prepared to go to the existential peripheries of the life of the people.

Construction

A significant extension to the seminary was a necessity for the housing and formation of the seminarians and for the mission of the seminary itself.

Progress

The Fit-Out stage of the works commenced in February 2025 and involves internal walls/ceilings, mechanical & electrical works, bedrooms, kitchen/bathroom equipment and final finishes.

The completion of this building will lay the foundation for more priests to be ordained; priests who will proclaim the love of God to the people for many years to come.

HANDS AND HEARTS UNITED

Many works have been contributed over countless hours by skilled volunteers helped by our seminarians

The beauty of this project extends far beyond professional construction

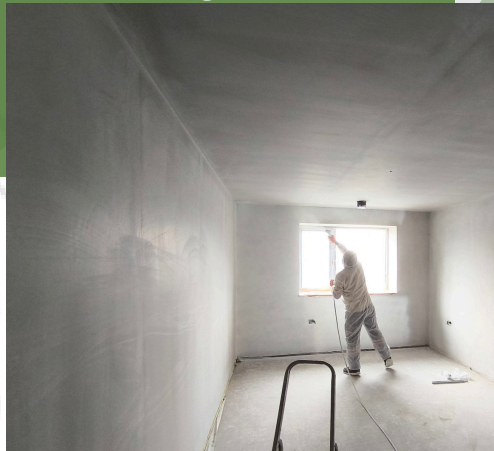

These young men learning to be priests are helping to complete the project.
